JUDGE McBURELY DECIDES THAT BROWNE JURY CAN NOT REACH A VERDICT.

JURY DISCHARGED TODAY

District Attorney Wayman Says That the Result Shows Signs of Crookedness.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, June 29.—The jury which heard the Leo O'Sell Browne bribery case have decided after one hundred and fifteen hours' deliberation that they could not agree on a verdict. They were brought into court and through their former announced the fact to the judge and asked to be discharged. After canvassing the jury this was done at eleven this morning. This is the first step in the Illinois bribery charges, indictments for which were found at the last session of the Cook county grand jury. The charges were brought by former Representative White who alleged that Browne, the minority democratic leader, paid him for his vote for William H. Lorimer for United States senator. The verdict of the jury was "no verdict." Unofficial reports say that the jury stood seven to five for conviction and eight to four for conviction. At any rate the jury holds the record for staying out the longest of any jury in Cook county. District Attorney Wayman made the statement today that the result of the Browne jury showed the most flagrant jury fixing case ever on record in Cook county. Whether he will take steps to prove this statement or not is not known. Officially, the jury took twenty-four ballots. The judge announced that he would hear motions for a new trial a week from today, which closes the case until after the fourth.

NOTED LAWYER HAS A TELLING ADDRESS

Edmund Judge Halls of New York Explains Wave of Crime Throughout the United States.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., June 29.—Before the state lawyers' association this afternoon, Federal Judge Holt of New York, declared that the wave of crime now sweeping over America was due to the apathy of the people and the manner in which the wheels of justice were clogged by technicalities, making the escape of the guilty possible. Police magistrates, he declared, were often too lenient with prisoners, who, instead of being punished sufficiently to prevent a repetition of the offense, merely were set free to do wrong again. Judge Holt urged that the death penalty be imposed upon such men as prove, after release from one prison term, a menace to the community. The spontaneous sentiment of the people would likely be against that he said, so he suggested the imprisonment instead.

POULTRY MEN WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Important Business to be Transacted by Poultry Fanciers' Association at Evening.

Tuesday evening, July 5, the regular meeting of the S. W. Poultry Association will be held at McVicar Bros. store. Many members are planning to be present as business of much importance is to be transacted. Many of those who have not paid up their dues for the coming year have signified their desire to pay up at this meeting and, so the secretary and treasurer are anticipating a swelling of the funds.

The prospects of the next show, to be held Jan. 16-21, 1911, are excellent. Many breeders from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota have promised to send exhibits. The intention is to have at least 1500 birds in the show room. Next to Milwaukee the Janesville show was the largest in the state last year, and this year the officers are putting forth extra efforts to have the largest show in Wisconsin.

New coops are to be purchased. A committee is to call on the business men of the city and solicit loans of $5 and over, and loans to be refunded as soon as earned by the association. Each year it has cost between $50 and $60 to rent coops so that it will be but a few years when the coops will be paid for. The business men are urged to contribute to the fund in every way for the association stands for a "Better Janesville, and More of It."

But few realize what this company of fanciers has done for Janesville. They have brought the value of good birds before the public. They have brought the citizens closer to nature by getting them interested in the producing of more wealth than it produced from almost any other source in the U. S. They have brought people from all parts of the state to our city. They have boosted Janesville so she has a "crow" of her own. Let all the citizens show their appreciation by helping the association.

JAMES HAYES MET TERRIBLE DEATH

Elkhorn Brakeman Whose Brothers Are Well Known Here Cut to Pieces Near Freeport Last Night.

C. M. & St. P. Brakeman James Hayes of Elkhorn, a brother of Dr. Harry Hayes, now of Dubuque, who practiced dentistry in Janesville about 12 years ago and Conductor Charles Hayes who is a frequent visitor here, met a terrible death on the St. Paul's Rock City Southwestern division near Freeport last evening. It is thought that the slack pulled out just as he attempted to step from one car to another. At any rate he fell between the cars and his head, both legs, and one arm were cut off by the wheels. The unfortunate man leaves a bride of six weeks to mourn his loss.

MRS. JAMES J. JEFFRIES, WIFE OF RETIRED CHAMPION.
Mrs. James J. Jeffries gives some interesting sidelights on the life and pleasures of the undefeated champion.

By MARY ASHIE MILLER.

San Francisco, Cal.—Just before the Jeffries camp at Woodwardman broke up preparatory to leaving for Reno I spent the day at camp with Mrs. James J. Jeffries, wife of the retired champion.

From our conversation I learned that neither the white fighter nor his wife have any idea of bravery, glory and the like as appertaining to the meeting with the colored man. They simply need the money.

To them it is a means of getting rich the quickest and they would like to do it with as little publicity as is compatible with the best financial results.

As to the methods to be employed, and the brutality of them, Mrs. Jeffries has apparently no more thought than has the wife of a successful lawyer or stock broker when her husband wins his case or corners something.

"I am not anxious at all," she said, "I may be a little anxious when they fight, but nervous—oh, no."

"It is my place to be here and make my husband's home for him just as I would any place else," she said.

And in pursuance of this she, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Jeffries, and Jeffries' handsome, happy faced niece, Miss Boyer, have a private kitchen where they cook all the food which goes to make up the brawn and muscle of the mighty man.

There is no trace of affection in Mrs. Jeffries' desire to avoid publicity. She is as honest and direct as a child and yet of all things, presumably "white." She is a pretty little woman with softly curling black hair, just touched prematurely with gray; long black eyes, generally smiling softly, and a creamy, colorless skin. She looked sadly at her trim little figure and said with a sigh, "Ah, but soon I will be a fat, round little woman, but I can not help it. But none of us like to be fat, do we?"

She talks well on any subject—save fighting—and we chatted of many matters during the afternoon. Without intending to do so, she presented an other side of her husband's character than that which the public at large generally receives. She told of his love for children, his enthusiasm for gardening and the delights he gets from his farm at Burbank.

"We have a place in Los Angeles," she said, "on a hill, with lawns all around it, and I have a nice garden, where I get our vegetables, beans, peas, lettuce and lots of things. I do not like to work in it myself, but I love to direct. My husband likes to dig, though. On our ranch at Burbank we have chickens, turkeys and ducks, and we used to have pigs, but they are too much trouble. The first year we were married—six years ago—we spent on the ranch, and I never had so much fun in my life. I had never been in the country before. You see, I had lived in cities, New York or Brooklyn."

She was born in Germany, but came to this country when a child. "I call myself an American," she said, "but I am really imported goods."

She has much magnetism, and despite her shrewdness—or because of it—a childlike way at times that is very charming.

When she saw me looking at the hands of this Bob Edgren, Jr., she said, "Oh, a palmer. Read my hands; oh, do," thrusting out her soft little palms impudently. So for a long hour I interpreted the lines and curves for her, telling her of her worldly wisdom, her reserve, her quick little temper, her tactful ability to have her own way under all conditions, her will power guided by reason, her ambition, her clear mind, her practicality, her capability and finally, looking at her inquiring fingers, I said, "and you do love money. You will be deeply interested in the gate receipts on the Fourth of July."

She laughed, but her eyes twinkled with a knowing look as she said quickly, "The gate receipts will not make any difference to us."

"Well," I said, "if they don't I think you had a good deal to do with making preliminary arrangements."

"Perhaps I did," she said. "Who can tell?"

WATERED STOCK.

So much ignorance exists concerning watered stock that many people have the notion that railroads exist for the purpose of selling to a deluded public a lot of worthless securities, when it is a fact, verified by statistics, that American railroads represent property values today far in advance of their stock and bond liabilities.

Many of these roads have passed through bankruptcy because they were built in advance of civilization, and ran at a loss until the capital invested was absorbed, but they struggled on and today share in advancing values because many of the water places have been redeemed, through their influence.

The following plain statement from the Wall Street Journal, is well worth reading:

"There is probably no phrase of the Wall Street vocabulary which is more ignorantly or deliberately misused by the agitator than the word 'water.' The origin of the expression is dated back to the days when Daniel Drew was a cattle drover. He was in the habit of doubling water to his stock from two to three days before he sold them; and of giving them all they could drink immediately before the proposed purchaser made his inspection, in order to increase their real or apparent weight. The transfer of the phrase to Wall Street was easy in this case, and apparently now it is applied to every increase in capital made by a railroad, whatever the surrounding conditions may be.

"Fortunately the clause in the new railway bill which gave the Interstate Commerce Commission power to interfere in such matters failed to pass, and for that fact every investor in the United States may well have a sigh of relief. It has been said in these columns that regulation of the railroads, which we have been advocating for the past twenty-five years, is the only alternative to socialism, but we shall continue to hold that management of the railroads by an irresponsible commission amounts to a confiscation of the stockholders' property, not even for the purpose of turning that property to public use, but in order to destroy it by sheer ignorance.

"The backbone of almost the entire railroad system of the United States was built by what the demagogue calls 'water.' The original building was a wildly speculative enterprise. On a franchise and a right of way through the desert, courageous investors bought bonds, with about as poor a prospect of redemption as a bond could have. The idea of anybody 'investing' in such a bond seemed so absurd that both preferred and common stocks were given with the bonds as a bonus. To offer further inducements, thousands of towns which are now trying to legislate railroad tracks into subways or up in the air, implored the builders to run their cars through the main street, and offered them their choice of town lots for a depot. With all these inducements, there were far more failures than successes. Many millions were wasted before we learned how to build railroads intelligently. Most of the railroads in this country have only emerged into prosperity after repeated bankruptcies in which the investor's money was totally lost, because he had looked too far ahead.

"And all this capitalization was 'water.' The Bangor & Aroostook railroad was built with money raised by bonds with which the stock was given as a bonus. It opened up a virgin territory. A decade ago it carried 40,000 bushels of potatoes in a year. In the fiscal year ended June, 1909, it carried 362,000 tons of potatoes, grown upon farms which would never have come into existence but for the railroad. There are plenty of agitators in the state of Maine who talk to these farmers about 'water' and to their shame be it said, the farmers are ready enough to believe anything against the railroads."

DEFINITE DECISION.
The Chicago Inter Ocean wants a decision on which is right, the insurgent or the regular republicans. In this morning's issue it calls upon former President Roosevelt to state which side of the question he is on instead of attempting to affect a neutrality of peace between the two contending elements. It says:

"Mr. Roosevelt is reported as endeavoring to coax and drive the insurgent republicans into something more than an insubstantial and broad-but-but support of Mr. Taft and his administration.

"This is a loyal attitude on Mr. Roosevelt's part. Yet it seems to us a political mistake.

"The insurgents, if they mean what they say, and the historic republicans, if they mean what they do, stand for antagonistic principles of government.

"The question is: Which principles are those of the republicans? It is a plain issue of 'either-or'—one thing or the other.

"We have an opportunity this year to try the question out before the people. If it be frankly and fairly tried out, the party will know by 1912 where it must stand and what course it must take to suit the majority.

"If the division in the party be frankly faced, and squarely fought out at the polls this year, the present confusion will be largely ended, and the party will go into the campaign of 1912 under either the historic republican or the insurgent banner.

"But to patch up a hollow compromise—as it must be if the insurgents have any sincerity at all—would be merely to increase the present confusion, not only in politics but in finance and commerce.

"With such a compromise we should continue to have doubt instead of knowledge, uncertainty instead of certainty, distrust instead of faith.

"What the country needs is a decisive settlement. No mere compromise will do.

"Towa and Indiana have set the pace and shown the way. Let the line of cleavage be frankly recognized.

"More grievous than to lose the House this year would it be to lose the Presidency and House in 1912."

It would appear as though President Taft really deserved the summer vacation he has promised himself, if anyone does. His results in the congressional legislation shows for itself and while many may seek credit for the results still, the public know that it was brought about because Taft stuck to his pre-election pledge.

Senator Fairchild is reporting progress in his gubernatorial campaign throughout the state. Senator Fairchild's slogan, "Loyalty to Taft and the republican administration," is appealing to the voters throughout the state the more they think the situation over.

There is a strong possibility that Janesville will be the meeting place of the next state convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. If so, it will be held late in June or July 1911, and then a rousing big celebration can be held.

That Browne jury certainly took a medal for long distance stubbornness and in the future it is safe to say that attorneys for both sides will see that they do not have given jurors to deal with when selecting veniremen.

Chicago is to have a sane Fourth. The idea is a good one. Chief of Police Appleby has issued a formal warning to the small boys, and some big ones, of Janesville, that premature celebrations must not be held, and perhaps Janesville will have a sane Fourth too.

Nothing encourages baseball players to do their best as an enthusiastic crowd. The Commercial League of the city give good exhibitions and should receive the support of the baseball fans of the city. It is a home industry that will develop if cared for.

roads will begin shortly. It seems too good to be true, but perhaps if every one holds their breath it will happen.

FOUR SEEK HIGHEST OFFICE IN VERMONT

Spirited Contest for Governorial Nomination Will Be Chief Feature of Republican Convention.

Montpelier, Vt., June 29.—A spirited contest for the gubernatorial nomination, promises to be the chief feature of tomorrow's republican convention in this city, many delegates to which have already arrived. Both ticket and platform will be made up almost wholly on state issues, without regard to national questions.

Among the aspirants for the governorship are John A. Wood, a wealthy scale manufacturer of Rutland, who promises to give the state a "business administration"; M. T. Hapgood of Peru, whose battle cry is "conservation of the state's natural resources"; James H. Hatchelder of Arlington, a former speaker of the Vermont house of representatives, whose principal platform plank is "good roads"; and Frederick G. Fleetwood of Morrisville, whose campaign slogan is "retrenchment."

New York Democratic Confab.
New York, June 29.—A number of prominent democratic leaders, comprising the general committee of the Democratic League of New York, met together at the Hotel Astor this afternoon to discuss plans for the coming congressional campaign in this state and to consider other matters of interest. Among other things discussed was a proposed conference similar to the one held at Saratoga last September, which resulted in a considerable re-organization of the party.

Primary in North Dakota.
Bismarck, N. D., June 29.—A bitter contest for control between the progressive and stalwart factions of the republican party in North Dakota is being fought out today in the state primaries. Candidates are to be chosen for United States senators, representatives in congress and all state officials from governor down.

Interest centers chiefly in the contest for the seat of Senator McManister, who is a candidate for reelection, and in the fight for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

Alberta Elections.
Edmonton, Alta., June 29.—The elections in Vermilion, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge districts are today expressing their political preferences at the by-elections and on their verdict depends the fate of the provincial government, which, under the leadership of Premier Sifton, came into power recently on the fall of the Rutherford cabinet.

It is expected Premier Sifton will be elected from Vermilion without serious opposition. The election of J. A. J. McManister, provincial secretary, who is running in Lethbridge district, is also regarded as certain.

Hon. C. H. Mitchell, the new minister of education and attorney general, has opposition in Medicine Hat, his brother-in-law having been nominated by the conservatives.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

One author goes to the hands of men, in search of local color, and then he tells with his SOME rough pen—and his AUTHORS' yarn could not be better. He makes of his writing craft a trade, and facts in his pages bristle; he works like a man with a ditching spade, and stops when he hears the whistle. He doesn't care for the good old plot—the sort of a plot that "thickens"—he lightly tells you that sort of rot would do for a Romeo or Dickens. He chances round in the dreary haunts of the town and finds its vermin; it isn't a plot for a tale he wants, but a text for a weary sermon. Oh, these tiresome books with their tiresome facts, and their yellow journal diction! They are not "papers" and they are not tracts, and they surely are not fiction!

YALE AND HARVARD TO RACE TOMORROW

Annual Row Contest On Thames Commands Widespread Interest—Harvard The Favorite

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New London, Conn., June 29.—The annual boat race on the Thames River between the university crews of Yale and Harvard will take place tomorrow and interest in the great aquatic event is as keen as ever. In addition to the variety eight-oared event there will be races between the "varsity" fours and the freshman crews. The principal event of the day will be rowed at 4:30 o'clock downstream from Red Top to the railroad bridge, a slight rise being with the crews. The freshmen will race tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The "varsity" fours will race immediately after the freshmen.

The two eight-oared boats, at its height and after all is said there appears to be little difference between the boats. On account of her having a veteran crew, the odds are inclined to slightly favor Harvard, but it seems to be the general opinion that there will be a close struggle.

In anticipation of the day of all days New London has assumed an air of activity and has put on gala attire in honor of the visitors. All indications point to the usual immense throng of spectators. The advance guard of the victors has already put in an appearance and early tomorrow morning the main army of university men and their friends will arrive in special trains from New York, Boston, Hartford, New Haven, and other points.

Yale and Harvard eight have rowed forty-three races, beginning in 1852 on Lake Whinniposee, at two miles. In 1855 the course was changed to Springfield, and lengthened to three miles. Lake Quinsigamond was the scene of the aquatic duel for nine years, and Lake Saltpond had the race in 1869. After an interval of seven years the crews in 1876 went to Springfield again, when the four-mile course was inaugurated. Since 1878 the race has been rowed regularly at New London, with the exception of the contest of 1897 which took place at Poughkeepsie with Cornell also a contestant. Of the thirty-three contests that have taken place Yale has won twenty-three and Harvard twenty.

JANESVILLE LADIES WERE ENTERTAINED

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, Wis., June 29.—About twenty-five members of the Janesville chapter of O. E. S. were entertained last night by the local chapter. ## NEWBOUR WAS BIT TOO THEATRICAL-- AND NOTHING MORE

Had No Intention of Battering Henry Summ With Pitch Fork—Was Just Warning Him in Friendly Way—Says So Himself.

John Newbourn was only giving Henry Summ a little friendly warning and object lesson concerning what was likely to happen if the said Summ tried to pay any unwelcome attention to the lady of the house, when he appeared his guest with a pitchfork at his home, 301 Hecoy street, Wednesday afternoon. The appearing was quite accidental and as Mr. Summ made no reference to it and hurried a moment to say good bye pleasantly before starting away with the cabbage plants which his old friend in the section gang had given him, the demonstration of Mr. Newbourn was quite unconvincing of the fact that any actual injury had been done by the upward thrust of the three-pronged barbed until an avowed friend in the coal sheds several hours thereafter.

On the morning stand in municipal court this witness Newbourn at first stated that he married the woman who passed for his second wife at Rockford but when pressed for details he was unable to give the name of the offending adulteress or justice and admitted that he had no certificate. Later on he practically admitted that they had not been married at all.

Summ, he declared had on one occasion tried to obtain admittance to his home on the pretense of getting a drink of water and the woman had slammed the door in his face. He was on the defensive, therefore, when the man who came for the cabbage plants made a friendly inquiry as to whether or not she was at home and upon learning that she was visiting in Watertown, vouchsafed the information that he had been acquainted with her since she was a little school girl and knew all about her. Then and thereupon Newbourn claims to have said: "If you do Henry, you know more than I do—don't you show yourself around here nights!" He got out the pitchfork just to show Henry in a playful way, that he was ready to back what he said, and Henry evidently saw the point.

According to Summ's own testimony he made no outcry or even comment to show that he was hurt. He admitted on cross examination that he served a term of 11 months behind the bars at Joliet for assaulting a policeman at Watertown and that in both Watertown and Janesville he had been jailed several times for drunkenness.

Dr. E. F. Woods testified that the man's breast was punctured just to the right of the breastbone and between the fourth and fifth ribs. The lung was penetrated, but not very deeply. In his opinion, though to a sufficient depth to interfere with the respiration. There had been considerable pain and profuse hemorrhage, but no infection had set in and the patient would completely recover.

Chief of Police George Appleby identified the pitchfork as the one which Newbourn had designated as the weapon brandished before Summ and it was introduced in evidence. Judge Fidelity, at the conclusion of the examination, stated that he was persuaded by the evidence of witnesses on both sides that there had been no intent to commit bodily harm, but that an offense, i. e., an assault and battery, had been committed and he would have to hold the defendant for trial under $250 bail. The trial was set for July 5 but it is probable that Newbourn in the mean time will come forward and plead guilty to the simple offense of assault and battery and pay a small fine.

District Attorney J. L. Fisher is prosecuting the case and the defendant is represented by Attorney Charles Hecker.

MEMBERS OF GROVE CHURCH AT REUNION

Present were about forty people from Evansville, including the Congregational minister, Rev. D. Quincey Grabbill, and others from Center and other parts of the county. Dr. David Denton of this city was invited to the gathering and he and Rev. Grabbill are to give addresses. Joseph T. Wright will speak of his work in the Sunday school of the Grove church. A picnic supper is to be served. The arrangements for the reunion have been made by Mrs. Anna Fisher of this city and Mrs. Baker of Evansville.

FIGHT RETURNS BY ROUNDS ON MONDAY

Great Jeffries-Johnson Fistic Encounter Will Be Given to Janesville People as Fast as Revived.

On Monday next the "Great Battle of the Century," as it is called by the sporting writers of the newspapers will take place at Reno, Nevada. Perhaps no little encounter in years has attracted the attention as has the coming contest. All over this country excitement has been run with interest in the forthcoming fight between the two great heavyweights, Jeffries and Johnson. The fight will be a real battle of the fists, round by round as fast as the rounds are completed for the benefit of the interested public. This is made possible by the fact that the fight belongs to two great news serving corporations, the Associated Press and the United Press. Special correspondents of these great news gathering institutions will be at the ring side at Reno and as fast as the fight develops the record they hope to maintain. From these distributing centers it will be sent to the members of the association. The Gazette will receive its report by a direct wire over the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company and it will reach Janesville but a few seconds after it is received in the distributing centers. Added to the regular bulletin at the Gazette office, the returns will be sent by special messengers to some other places of business that have been receiving the daily base ball reports, making ten reports furnished by the Gazette throughout the city. This should meet all requirements of the sports loving public and give all who desire an opportunity of hearing the results as fast as they are received. This is made possible by the fact that the Gazette belongs to a press association and the reports come directly to this paper and not to any individual.

New Tobacco Sparring Machine. The Tobacco Machinery Co. of Milwaukee is out this year with a new machine for sparring tobacco plants on lath. It is said to do twice the work of last year's machine—costs about half as much and with the engine weighs but little over half as much. Mechanical engineers say they have now reduced the mechanism to the simplest possible form. It is mounted on skids, or on a four wheel truck, as the farmer prefers. A circular with full description is about to be issued. For further particulars address F. T. Torrey, Mgr., 421 Wells Bldg., Milwaukee.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH-- VERDICT EXPECTED

Taking of Evidence in Dalton Case Was Completed Before Coroner Peck at Harvard.

Though no notification to that effect had been received here up to a late hour this afternoon, it was taken for granted that the coroner's jury at Harvard, sitting on the case of the late Matthew Dalton, returned a verdict of accidental death without laying blame in any quarter. The sworn statements made by William Monroe to Attorney T. R. Nolan and Chief Appleby in this city were corroborated to a large extent by Ernest of Harvard, a former employee of the local sawmill factory, who met Monroe in the Illinois city the night he and Dalton started out for Chicago; by "Bunko" Riley, the conductor on the train which carried Monroe to the metropolis; and others, though Riley denied that he had in any way caused or aided in Monroe's riding on his train. State's Attorney Joseph W. Woodstock, Attorney Nolan of this city, and many others were on hand and under the direction of Dr. C. B. Peck, the coroner, a thoroughgoing investigation was completed. The general conjecture seemed to be that Dalton woke up and missing Monroe, tried to get out of the sand pond and fell under the wheels.

EDWARD WELCH POKED A PASSENGER'S NOSE

Driver of Grand Hotel Bus Did Not Care to Argue With Louis Garfinkel of New York Regarding Tariff.

Edward Welch, driver of the Grand hotel bus, tried to forcibly collect fare from a traveling man named Louis Garfinkel, whom he conveyed to the Hotel Myers last evening, and so severely that the sidewalk was covered with gore. Chief Appleby interfered at this juncture and compelled Mr. Welch to return the stranger's "head-poke" which he was holding in security. The traveling man was going to pay the tariff of twenty-five cents at his own convenience, and Mr. Welch couldn't see it just that way. There were threats of arrest and prosecution last night, but Mr. Garfinkel, after a night's sleep, thought better of his intention to swear out a warrant.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"T" 11/8 started out to be a very forward spring. I commented most broadly on the other day, "but look how it has wound up. It seems to me as if it were always that way about the spring. Sometimes it starts off like summer instead of spring, and in March and April things are way ahead of the schedule, and then somewhere in May or June we get the cold weather all in a lump, and by the end of June things have gotten back to normal."

"Then other times it starts out cold and people say everything will be terribly behind, and along in May or June comes a long hot spell and even things up."

"Seems to me, on the whole, that for all the trouble they make about early and late spring, that things progress just about the same every year."

"The philosopher happened to be present during that long speech. 'Now isn't it possible that it's the same way about lives?' he suggested thoughtfully. 'We are always saying what a perfectly happy life some one seems to have, and what a contrast it is to somebody else who has every sort of sorrow and trouble, but in the long run don't things even up pretty thoroughly? Is it possible that before the season is over, the pleasant and unpleasant days have balanced pretty well?'"

I wonder if he is right. Of course the Matter-of-fact Person was present, and promptly refuted the philosopher with an example of a woman whom she knew who was over eighty and had never had a bit of real trouble in her life, and would have to crowd a lot into the last few years of her life if she were to make up the arrears of stormy weather due her.

"How do you know she never had any trouble, Madame?" inquired the philosopher.

"Know?" indignantly protested the Matter-of-fact Person. "Haven't I lived next door to her all my life and didn't my mother before me, and doesn't everybody know it, anyway?"

"But trouble, Madame, sometimes lies deeper than even next-door neighbors can see," protested the philosopher.

The Matter-of-fact Person smiled, as matter-of-fact persons are apt to at philosophers, and the philosopher addressed the rest of his remarks to me.

"I know a man who was mean and low down, and selfish as they make them," he said, "and yet everything he touched prospered, and what most of us call trouble never came to him. But I never have any doubts that he suffered some kind of a punishment inside of himself, even if it was simply his own inability to be decent."

I have an idea that many of the people we think are so perfectly happy are shut out by continual freedom from trouble from an ability of appreciating happiness—and isn't that something of a deprivation?"

I wonder if it isn't even true that, although we can't always see it from the outside, the account of pleasant and of unpleasant days is evened up for most of us before the season is over.

I wonder if some of the lives that seem to us so entirely and unintermittently sunny are not often bleak and dreary inside.

I wonder if Omar, in his reckoning, is right when he says: I sent my soul through the invisible, Some letter of that After-life to spell; And by and by my soul returned to me And answered, "I myself am Heaven and Hell."

MRS. LELIA GORDON BARNETT, WIFE OF COLONEL BARNETT, U. S. M. C., COMMANDER OF THE LEGATION GUARD AT PEKING.

San Francisco, Cal.—Mrs. Lelia Gordon Barnett, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Barnett of the United States marine corps and commander of the legation guard at Peking, does not think that Colonel Roosevelt's riding test for military officers is an unreasonable demand. She knows what she is talking about, for a few weeks ago she accompanied her husband on his 30 mile horseback ride, and then, just to show that the Roosevelt test was the merest trifle, joined her husband in another trip of more than three times the length ridden under test conditions.

As Mrs. Douglas Gordon, Mrs. Barnett was famous throughout Virginia as a fearless horsewoman, and when the orders came to Peking for her husband to get out and ride 100 miles she decided that she would go along. Horseback riding in north China is not like galloping through Virginia lanes. The Chinese horses are more like jackrabbits, the climate is trying and the roads hard and dusty.

On the first day of the test Mrs. Barnett and the colonel rode from Peking to the Tung Shan baths, and they rode so swiftly that they arrived far in advance of their manhood, who were following with the baggage. Mrs. Barnett wanted to take a swim. Her bathing suit was in the custody of the manhood, who would not be there for some hours.

Being a woman of resources, Mrs. Barnett bought an ample white shirt from a Chinese and within 10 minutes had improvised the neatest bathing suit that the Tung Shan baths ever saw.

On the return trip, while fording a river, Mrs. Barnett's horse balked and rolled over in the water. When she reached the opposite shore an officer who had accompanied them told her that she was "in sight for the gods."

"Perhaps," she replied, "but not for me. Please ride on."

At Shaho a Gobi desert dust storm was encountered and it converted their tent into an airship. They had received warning, however, and when the dust came in found Mrs. Barnett, fully dressed, sitting on her cot.

The riding test of the "Colonel's lady" so aroused the admiration of the man in the legation guard that they presented her with a beautiful silver cup.

Mrs. Barnett is accompanied by her three children and is on her way to her old home in Virginia.

FADS AND FANCIES.

By MARY RUSSELL.

The people who are the most sovereign on the fads of the day are generally blind devotees at the shrine of some old time custom which they would resent bitterly if you called it a fad, but which nevertheless is just that—however one may disguise the fact.

The man who thinks it a fad to sleep in the fresh night air, and tells dire stories of death and insanity lurking in the evening mist, is a slave to fad.

The man who will advise one to beware of the fad of foodstuffs, and advise some old fashioned meals, and proudly states the number of dishes that graced his father's board, is simply a slave to the god of dyspepsia, but he does not know it.

So it goes through a long list of old times versus the now. It is very amusing to listen to the people who are strongly set in any line air their opinions and advise against all kinds of fads as foolishness of the distant kind.

In very truth there is more reason for following the many so-called fads of today than there were for the fads of days gone by.

Today that scientist is busy studying and learning all that can be discovered as to ways and means for the promotion of health. His ideas are good in most instances and based upon scientific research. Why, then, should we waste on a label—"beware of fads"—and so lose the opportunity for better things. Why not follow the example of the workers of monasteries and gather a bit of wisdom from our man's ideas and a bright bit of fancy from another's, and extract a new thought from the mass offered by some other enthusiast, and so on through the list, and out of all build up a fad or fancy for ourselves which will have beauty in our own eyes at least?

If only one uses good common sense there is much in the mass of ideas offered so freely by the ultra faddists that will work for good.

The food ideas seem to be the one for which there are the more different opinions than any other. The amusing part of it all is that each "inventor of ideas" insists that his theory of eating is the biggest and finest and best. In short, it is the only one worth while.

Now it may be for the man who has adopted it in its entirety. It may be even for you, but it might be very obnoxious to the other members of your family, therefore you would follow it with difficulty and discomfort.

Have some ideas of your own. Study effects on yourself. Don't be hunting for things that disagree with you, but keep your eyes open for things that make you feel satisfied and contented—and then eat sparingly of those things. It is absolutely certain that we must of us eat too much. Back of all this weighing and crunching of foods is that fundamental theory—don't eat too much.

It isn't so much the food. It is not even the method in which you prepare it, nor the place where you buy it. It is the amount you eat that counts.

Use your own good common sense, then, and cure your digestive apparatus if it is impaired. Drink water freely and keep in a good temper. Don't worry and you will be an example of health and happiness.

As with the food fads, so with the breathing and sleeping and dressing ideas. Read all the ideas of all the scientists and adapt the best of them to your own use, and use your own common sense.

But for the sake of your good name don't say "What is good enough for my father is good enough for me." You don't mean it, and you don't practice it, so don't say it.

Very Much Surprised.

"You look surprised, Mrs. Mangle; what's the matter?" Why, my son Tom came in just now full of an avowal he had seen. He told me some news of the flights in the air that were absolutely incredible, and so surprised me as to leave me almost in a state of prostration."

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

DAILY DIET HINTS. PINEAPPLE IN CONVALESCENCE.

Pineapple is a valuable mono-diet in stomach diseases. If the fibrous pulp is carefully thrown out after chewing, the fruit can be digested by the weakest stomach at small cost of nervous energy. Hence, in convalescence after wasting diseases it is a good diet and may be alternated with buttermilk, which contains more proteid and minerals. The fresh fruit is, of course, preferable to the canned, and in extreme cases the opportunity of getting the fruit fresh from the plant is important. All food deteriorates from the moment at which it is taken from the source of life. Thousands of infants die because their supply of food is unnatural in this respect. We know that fruit eaten immediately it comes from the plant has a more vitalizing effect. It is important to consider this in certain cases in which the power to assimilate has been greatly reduced.

GREEK MINISTER TO WED AMERICAN GIRL.
Miss Anna E. Cockrell, daughter of ex-Senator Cockrell, whose engagement to L. A. Coromilas has been announced.

Washington, D. C.—When Minister Lambros A. Coromilas arrived in the United States to take up his post of duty as representative of classic Greece, he paid the most striking tribute to the beauty of American women over pronounced by a foreigner.

"American women of today are more beautiful than the most beautiful women of ancient Greece. Were I to choose a wife I would choose an American beauty, the most splendid the world has ever known."

Mr. Coromilas has certainly not changed his mind for his engagement to Miss Anna Ewing Cockrell, daughter of former United States Senator P. M. Cockrell of Missouri, has just been announced. Miss Cockrell is one of the best looking girls who ever adorned the society of the capital.

The marriage has been set for July 6 and will take place in Norwich, Conn.

Mr. Coromilas is a bachelor and undutiful son. At his arrival here, three years ago, he was considered by his fellow diplomats as a woman hater.

Miss Cockrell is tall, splendidly figured, and might well rank with any of the ancient statues of beauty of her prospective husband's native land. When he saw her, first he declared:

"There is a woman who is more lovely than any Philis ever carved."

Her figure, her charming face and her talented soprano voice soon won the most ardent admiration of the picturesque Greek.

They will go first to London, then to Paris and Constantinople before the minister returns to Athens.

SPENDS $100,000 PER YEAR ON DRESS.
Best Dressed Woman in New York.
Miss Giulia Morosini.

New York, N. Y.—Miss Giulia Morosini has the reputation of being the best dressed young woman in New York. Recently she stated in an interview, regarding the litigation over her estate that a woman in New York society could not dress properly on less than $100,000 per year. She was the favorite daughter of her father, the aged, Italian, who came to America as humble Giovanni P. Morosini and became the intimate business associate of the late Jay Gould. Wall Street has variously estimated the Morosini fortune at between $5,000,000 and $15,000,000. But it is believed that $5,000,000 is nearer the mark, and this is ample for the most remarkable horsewoman in the world, who has inherited the bulk of this great sum. She has the name of every famous horse at her tongue's end and can give the history and record of any horse whose career is worth remembering. She cares more for driving than for racing horses. She is the only woman member of the New York Speedway association, in the affairs of which she is tremendously interested. One of the most interesting figures in the annual speedway parade is Miss Morosini driving her handsome, spirited chestnuts. At her Elmhurst estate, Riverside-on-the-Hudson, she has her model stables, which are said to be as fine as any in America. She has a dozen Kentucky thoroughbreds, every one of which is worth $5,000.

Sullivan, Michael.

An East Boston doctor told of the experience of a druggist the other day who sold some alcohol to a new customer. After the man had signed the book as required, he said: "Now, don't get that name twisted. It is Michael Sullivan, and not Sullivan Michael, same as they turned it around in the directory."—Boston Journal.

Naturally.

After a man has succeeded in getting a woman to admit she loves him, he loses interest and begins to look around for another one.—Chicago American.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

With children, as with adults, what they possess ought to be recognized as being absolutely their own. But this is very far from being the case. Sometimes a grown-up has need of some article belonging to a child, or wishes it to be given to some other child, and the rightful owner is so coaxed and blamed and shamed as to be actually compelled to give up the article. In some cases it is taken without asking.

No grown person would be treated thus, and no child ought to be, nor would be by any caretaker who would enter sympathetically into the feelings of the child.

One ought to "respect the rights of property" where children are concerned as scrupulously as with grown people; and when this is intelligently done the children themselves soon learn to recognize these rights with one another, and quarrels between them are reduced to a minimum. But if, on the other hand, the child's own rights are ruthlessly trampled on by those whom he is taught to consider his infallible teachers, it is only natural that he, in his turn, should learn to trample as ruthlessly on the rights of others.

Harmony.

Perhaps you make the mistake of trying to harmonize outside things with you. Harmony is and you are it. Be still and know. Harmonize with the One Spirit; and let conditions play elms and avenues if they will. Just smile at them, and enjoy. By and by you will hear harmony in the tones that now seem like discord—only because your mind is not tuned to them. Of the things you dislike now, you will later say: "Best thing that ever happened!"—Elizabeth Towne in "Nautilus."

Trick of the Gas Man.
"Look out! It's a funny turn," telephoned the gas man to a fellow employee whose duty it is to go round and turn on the gas and inspect the meter for families that have just moved in or have had the gas shut off for non-payment of bills. He explained that the man who is sent to a house to shut off the gas because the bill hasn't been paid rarely tells the housewife what he is about to do. She wouldn't let him in. Instead he makes a pretense of trying to find a leak. Once in the cellar he snaps a padlock on the valve and the trick is done. Then he leaves quickly. When the turn man comes around after a settlement has been made he is likely to get at least a good tongue lashing, but he jerks his shoulders and points to his ears, pretending to be deaf.

"In other case," said the gas man, "there is no use in abusing him, and that is why we put each other wise when to set the dummy."

DOCTORS' PRESCRIPTIONS

It has been proved over and over again that the doctors of this country freely prescribe proprietary medicines in Latin for their patients until they are advertised to the public, after which time they consider it a duty to immediately condemn the very same medicine, not because the preparation is any less valuable, but because it is not "ethical" to prescribe an advertised medicine. There are, however, many physicians of recognized standing, broad-minded and successful enough to continue to prescribe such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which they know to be good.

You need not suffer from sickness, and you need not fill yourself with drugs in order to be made well.

The great new scheme of Chiropractic (K. I. R. - D. - T. K.) has shown the world that in order to be made well and to remain well it is necessary to remove the cause of the ailment, and that creating symptoms with medicine is not as practical as the Chiropractic adjustment. Every nerve in the entire body which controls every function and organ of the entire human system and every nerve (about 100,000,000 in all) pass through the spine. When certain nerves do not perform their functions you become sick. The way to remove the cause of the sickness is to adjust the spine. Almost every ailment is curable by the Chiropractic adjustment. If you suffer from sickness of any kind, call for free consultation and advice.

Watt Writes of Workout of the Two Big Pugs and the Cows That Have Reached Reno.

Reno is the scene for the sporting fraternity the world over. In today's letter to the Gazette William Watt writes of the excessive prices that will be charged, the raising in the price of seats and the crowds that have invaded the Nevada city.

The negro problem has bothered the authorities considerably but ambitious Chicago speculators are making money while the sun shines by renting quarters for the colored people who will throng to see Johnson and the great Jeffries come together.

Reno, Nevada, June 25. (Editor Gazette.) "This afternoon I paid a visit to the Jack Johnson training camp which is north of the city two miles. Fully 2000 people were on hand to see the big black go through his work which consisted of warm boxing bouts with his sparring partners, Al Kaufman and George Cotton. Johnson is at all times in a happy mood and even while boxing he smiled most of the time showing a row of gold crowned teeth. He frequently posed for the newspaper photographers and is a prime favorite with the pen pushers. At the ring side, while Johnson was working out, was John L. Sullivan as well as a dozen men famous in the fight game years ago.

At the Jeffries camp the crowd was greater than at any time since Jeff pulled into Reno. Hundreds of women were among his admirers. Telegrams by the hundred are arriving daily calling for seats and the managers have at last decided to enlarge the arena.

Every hotel in the city has been already filled and single rooms in the residence section are now in demand at from $3 to $5 per night. And what will it be a week from now.

A man with any kind of life in him who was on the scene here when the word was given out that Reno was the place finally selected for the big fight, should be in a position to make all kinds of easy money. With the crowd that will be here money will be no object.

We leased a forty-room lodging house here to a Chicago youth who will rent the rooms to only colored people. From all the local hotels the negroes who have already arrived have been turned away and many of them are wealthy. With two beds in a room and with two persons to be bed at $3 each you can figure up what this boy will make for at least a week with this forty-room proposition.

At the hotel here last evening Jeffries and McFadden sold their interest in the moving picture for a cool $10,000 while Johnson sold for a cool $10,000 while Johnson sold for a cool $10,000.

The sale of seats opened here this morning the management, raising the price of the cheapest seats from $5 to $10 each. Even at this price the speculators are buying up all the cheap seats.

MURDERESS BECOMES A MANIAC.
Woman Accused of Killing Her Husband Is Sent to Madhouse.

Berlin, June 29.—The mental strain of a prolonged murder trial made Frau von Schoenbeck-Weber a raving maniac. The trial has been abandoned and the woman sent to a madhouse, it is not believed she can recover her reason.

Frau von Schoenbeck-Weber was being tried on the charge of having instigated the murder of her husband, Major von Schoenbeck, on Christmas day, 1907, and having been an accessory to the murder committed by Captain von Gochen, who ended his own life. The trial was held in Altonstein, East Germany.

Owing to the excited birth and high rank of the woman, together with the circumstances surrounding the murder, the trial was a national sensation in Germany. Her new husband, A. O. Weber, a celebrated author, was constantly at her side. She had been out on bail and living in London until the trial was called. She is a woman of thirty-three, but so beautiful that she could pass for a girl of twenty.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 29, 1870.—Follings.—Willard Merrill, Esq., is confined to his house by ill. news. We are glad to know however that his health is improving.

The market is now well supplied with berries. They are by no means as large nor as luscious as they were last year.

A gentleman suggests that the fire steamers be used to water the trees in the parks and thus save them from dying. Why is not the idea a good one?

A despatch announces a fine rain at Delphoria yesterday and a good attendance at the musical jubilee now in progress there.

A new sidewalk is a much needed improvement in front of M. C. Smith's lot on the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets. Someone will thereby be saved broken bones.

LITTLE MICHAEL SCIENCE. Innocent Victim of Black Hand. Baby Kidnaped After the Father Had Refused to Bump.

New York City.—One of the most startling and pathetic incidents among the many notorious acts of the Black Hand society was the abduction of little 3-year-old Michael Science from his home at No. Prince street.

The father is a physician and well known throughout the Italian districts.

The kidnapping of little Michael took place in broad daylight while he was playing with some friends on the third floor of his home. It followed a series of threatening black letters received by Dr. Science during the last three years.

Both the father and mother are prostrated with grief.

The missing child was playing in the hallway in front of the Science apartment, directly above Dr. Science's office, with Vito Bagnano, six years old, and Marie Casaro, three years old, when a man approached the child and asked him to a store and get some candy.

The child, however, refused to go and the stranger led him down the stairway, past the door leading to Dr. Science's office, where he was attending to some patients, and out into Prince street.

The Bagnano boy followed them to the street and saw them disappear northward in Elizabeth street.

After waiting several minutes for the return of Michael the Bagnano boy entered the office of Dr. Science and informed him of the occurrence.

Dr. Science hurried to the street and ran to Elizabeth street. He sounded the warning, and within a few minutes a score of persons were on the trail. Returning to his office Dr. Science telephoned to police headquarters and the Italian squad, soon were engaged in the chase.

The locality was thoroughly searched for a radius of several blocks, but not a person was found who could throw any light upon the movements of the man and child. Finding their efforts fruitless Police Captain Carro and a general alarm was sounded and a description of the Science child sent broadcast.

The child wore a tan Buster Brown suit and a bow tie.

Dr. Science states that in his judgment the child was stolen for ransom in revenge for his refusal to pay attention to black letters which he received periodically.

Some three years ago, he said, he received threatening letters, which he gave to Lieutenant Joseph Petrosino, who was assassinated in Italy in March, 1909.

After that event the letters ceased, and he believed his anonymous correspondents had forgotten him, when, on April 3, the threatening demands were renewed.

Dr. Science is convinced he will hear from his son's abductor within the next few days, on the theory that the boy was stolen for ransom. Meanwhile the police are searching the lower east side for the child, in which task they are being assisted by hundreds of Dr. Science's friends.

WILLIE WISE. Death for Hair Ghouls in China. In consequence of the wholesale desecration of graves to obtain human hair for export in China, mainly to Paris, the viceroy of China has issued a decree providing that any of the skulls captured in this work be put to death.

In Card Table Parlor. "He placed his hand and fortune at my disposal," said Miss Bridgerton. "Signifying, I suppose," replied Miss Cynenne, "that he is willing to play dummy" for the rest of his life.

Soothing Drink. When one is subject to sore throat a soothing drink is made from a pint of barley water, brought to a boiling point over a hot fire. To this is added an ounce of the best gum arabic, which is constantly stirred until dissolved.
